Informant stated EPSTEIN is in line to get one and one-half points in the New Union Hotel and casino being built over Union Station in Las Vegas and the principal owners of this hotel and casino have indicated they do not want any hoodlum money in their operation. PATRICK was interested in investing in that hotel casino but was turned down. Informant does not believe EPSTEIN would jeopardize his chance of getting one and one-half points by fronting for PATRICK.

DETAILS:

CG T-1 on November 27, 1970, stated LEONARD PATRICK is highly concerned regarding the new Federal gambling legislation and has little or nothing going for him. He has been in contact with a union man to get some of his men jobs. What action he has going for him results in his men calling preferred customers.

CG 92-374

On December 29, 1970, CG T-2 advised LENNIE PATRICK dissolved his bookmaking operation upon passage of the new Federal gambling legislation. Of the bookmakers who formerly worked for him [redacted] "YUDIE" LUFMAN and [redacted] are still active in bookmaking. Source did not know if they are working independently or for someone. [redacted] allegedly received financial backing from his father and is very likely working with [redacted]

CG T-3 advised on January 15, 1971, that subject has a sports bookmaking office somewhere in the downtown area of Chicago which is going very big. He stated an individual named [redacted] and someone else are sitting in this office every day accepting bets.

b6

During the period February 15, 1971, through March 8, 1971, CG T-4 advised it is his understanding that all bookmaking operations controlled by LENNIE PATRICK on Chicago's far north side are down at least temporarily.

On March 17, 1971, CG T-2 stated that in recent days RALPH PIERCE and LEONARD PATRICK sent word to all their former bookmakers that they have completely disassociated themselves from bookmaking, that they could expect no financial or other assistance in the event they are arrested by local or Federal authorities.

CG T-51, on May 29, 1968, stated that wireroom operations on Chicago's north side are controlled by ROSS PRIO. Working under PRIO are LEONARD PATRICK, JOSEPH DI VARCO, BEN EPSTEIN, and [ ] who is [ ] the bookmaking operation. There are three large bookmaking offices handling sports and horse bets on the north side which are controlled by [ ] who is assisted by [ ] (LNU). [ ] operates one of the offices. b6 b7C

The above referred to offices move their locations on a monthly basis and and sooner if they receive information that their security is jeopardized.

CG T-8, on June 26, 1968, stated that sometime during the current week the panging game will open next door to the Sherman Bridge Club on Glenwood Avenue just northwest of Morse Avenue. The game is to be operated by [redacted] b6 b7C Reportedly LEONARD PATRICK and [redacted] have an interest in this game. It has been rumored that in order to operate a payoff of $1,000 per month must be made to the local police district.

The above informant advised on September 17, 1968, that the panging game controlled by PATRICK and [redacted] has opened in the building south of the Sherman Bridge Club. b6 b7C

On September 17, 1968, CG T-51 remarked that LEONARD PATRICK's card game was moved from Lake Shore Drive approximately two weeks ago and is now located at the Sherman Bridge Club, 6970 North Glenwood, Chicago. The game is in almost continuous operation with Friday night being one of the big evenings.

CG T-8, on August 22, 1968, stated that [redacted] is currently looking for LEONARD PATRICK. b6 b7C

CG 92-374

In October, 1968, CG T-51 and CG T-53 advised that LENNIE PATRICK is the boss of the district bounded by Belmont and Devon and Lake Michigan to Cicero. Approximately 200 bookmaking operations are conducted in this district. Individuals operating within the framework of PATRICK's operation are as follows:

DAVE YARAS
NEEDLES GIANOLA

[REDACTED]
[REDACTED] (LNU) (Runs Office)

BEN EPSTEIN

b6
b7C

[REDACTED]
[REDACTED] and his brother

GEORGE and NICK BRAVOS
[REDACTED]

ALBERT FRABOTTA was a collector for LEONARD PATRICK, however, no longer holds this position.

On October 28, 1968, CG T-32 stated that bookmaking was being conducted at Chicago telephone numbers 973-0212 and 973-0611, which numbers are under the control of LENNIE PATRICK.

CG T-52, on October 29, 1968, said that LENNIE PATRICK controls all gambling on Chicago's far north side. Anyone can open a dice or card room or wireroom operation, however, because of PATRICK's organization, patrons of same are reluctant to start up with someone new. Because of this, any action going on in that area is "locked up" by PATRICK.

CG T-8 advised on December 13, 1968, that [REDACTED] who was recently arrested in connection with a football parlay card case for a bookmaker at [REDACTED] where he works. He is not considered a large operator and when he receives what he considers too large a bet, he lays it off with either "YUDIE" LUFMAN, one of LENNIE PATRICK's bookmakers, or with [REDACTED]

CG 92-374

Above informant also stated that [ ] who was arrested in a gambling raid on his apartment last week-end, books [ ] bets by himself, but lays off the larger action to LENNIE PATRICK's group.

b6

CG T-8 said the PANGINI gang next door to the Sherman Bridge Club is still in operation and controled by LENNIE PATRICK, [ ] and "OBBIE" FRABOTTA. Cards bearing certain markings are used in lieu of money or chips in case of a raid.

b6

Informant went on to say that [ ] and [ ] who were arrested October 18, 1968, in a raid on one of PATRICK's wirerooms, were found guilty of bookmaking and fined $100 each.

b6

Informant remarked that [ ] continues to operate as a bookmaker for LENNIE PATRICK.

CG T-8 advised on March 21, 1969, that since the first of the year (January 1, 1969) LENNIE PATRICK's books have net one quarter of a million dollars. At least a portion of PATRICK's books were operated on a 50/50 basis with [ ] and [ ] however, PATRICK is pushing [ ] out and as of March 24, 1969, he (PATRICK) will have sole control of his books.

The weekly expenses for PATRICK's books are in excess of $2,000. This includes the cost for offices, alternate offices, telephones, salaries, and payoffs.

is directly responsible to LENNIE PATRICK. [redacted] b7C reportedly suffered heavy losses during the 1968-1969 basketball season and is suppose to stay out of action until the start of the regular basketball season.

PATRICK's books during the basketball season would accept no individual bet over $500 for a single game at the designated point spread.
If the customer desired to bet an additional $500,
he would have to give up one-half a point.

On April 9, 1969, CG T-8 stated that with regard to PATRICK's bookmaking operation, PATRICK splits on a 50/50 basis with DAVE YARAS. Source knows PATRICK and YARAS to pay off to the "outfit out west" but does not know anyone.

Above informant stated that in view of the highly successful past year enjoyed by the PATRICK bookmaking organization, PATRICK rewarded [redacted] b6
[redacted] with a bonus of $5,000 around Christmas time. b7C

Whereas, the limit for anyone betting customer of PATRICK during the basketball season was $500; the limit on a single baseball bet is $1,000.

[redacted] is a bookmaker for PATRICK but b6 is considered a small operator in that he handles b7C probably as few as 20 betting customers at any one time.

CG T-3, on April 25, 1969, advised that as b6 of approximately two months ago, [redacted] was b7C operating at two or three bookmaking offices utilized by the LEONARD PATRICK-DAVE YARAS group in Rogers Park. Informant said that PATRICK and YARAS are the leaders of organized crime responsible for the Rogers Park area of Chicago.

Informant further advised that [redacted] b6 took over for BEN EPSTEIN, who formerly supervised b7C bookmaking activities for PATRICK and YARAS but who is now more or less retired following two heart attacks.

CG 92-374

CG T-32 stated on May 2, 1969, that telephone numbers 338-0452 and 973-4121 are being used at the present time by the LENNIE PATRICK bookmaking group. Informant stated bets, which are called into these numbers, are recorded on blackboards and erased immediately after they are relayed to a main bookmaking office. Source advised that [redacted] and [redacted] (LNU) [redacted] b6 b7C manned the aforementioned telephones for PATRICK.

CG T-8 advised on August 7, 1969, that two of PATRICK's bookmakers, [redacted] and [redacted] b6 b7C [redacted] were arrested in a gambling raid about two weeks ago in the vicinity of 5400 West Washington.

Informant stated an individual known as [redacted] a member of the [redacted] b6 b7C [redacted] is a betting customer of [redacted] LEONARD PATRICK and a bookmaker named [redacted] (possibly [redacted] [redacted], who was formerly located in the Loop.

On September 3, 1969, CG T-8 said that [redacted] (LNU), a Jewish man, approximately [redacted] years of age, who resides [redacted] from the [redacted] b6 b7C [redacted] was arrested on bookmaking charges about a week ago. He was operating in the Rogers Park area for LENNIE PATRICK. Until his arrest, [redacted] was being helped on a temporary basis by [redacted] who called a few betting customers and also handled the paper work.

On September 18, 1969, CG T-8 advised that [redacted] started booking sports again last week for LENNIE PATRICK. He has a new partner in his operation named [redacted] is still a part of the operation, however, he now acts in the capacity of a relay man. Informant explained that [redacted] would periodically call into the location occupied by [redacted] and [redacted] and record all the bets taken by them up until that time so that in the event of a police raid, no records would be available.

LENNIE PATRICK's bookmaking group is no longer accepting sport bets from [redacted] inasmuch as he will bet as much as $100,000 in a week and PATRICK's group does not want to cover such large bets any more. b6 b7C

CG T-54 advised in October, 1969, that one [redacted] has worked for LENNIE PATRICK as a bookmaker for about one year.

CG T-8, on October 20, 1969, said that [redacted] is getting the sports line for the LENNIE PATRICK bookmaking group by calling [redacted] a large bookmaker operating in the Loop area of Chicago. b6 b7C Informant stated PATRICK's bookmakers are now operating primarily from public telephone booths calling their customers, rather than a customer calling them. The bookmakers are not working on Wednesdays or Thursdays.

On November 6, 1969, CG T-8 stated that the Pangini game, controlled by LENNIE PATRICK, [redacted] and [redacted] reopened November 1, 1969, at 7643 North Paulina, Chicago. The game is still being run by [redacted]. b6 b7C

On January 23, 1970, CG T-8 advised that [redacted] and "YUDIE" LUFMAN are still booking for LENNIE PATRICK. [redacted] also takes some bets for PATRICK by calling betting customers, however, he is still employed as [redacted] possibly at [redacted]. b6 b7C

CG T-8, on February 6, 1970, said that [redacted] is a sports bookmaker whose betting customers are comprised largely of brokers, insurance men, and attorneys in the Loop area, Chicago. [redacted] in the past, has laid off some of his action to other bookmakers controlled by LENNIE PATRICK and [redacted]. b6 b7C

CG T-55, on February 27, 1970, stated he learned that [ ] is working for LENNIE PATRICK and appears to be in charge of a number of bookmakers for PATRICK. [ ] has been securing a sports line from [ ]

b6

On March 4, 1970, CG T-56 advised that [ ] (LNU) [ ] is currently handling a large amount of bookmaking action for LENNIE PATRICK. On March 27, 1970, CG T-32 advised that all bookmakers operating for PATRICK are closed down for three weeks or until April 3, 1970, when the baseball season begins. This source stated the money for the PATRICK bookmaking apparatus is handled through the Berwyn Currency Exchange.

CG T-8, on April 17, 1970, said that LENNIE PATRICK's bookmaking group has between 100 and 120 betting customers during the baseball season. These betting customers would be handled by five or six bookmakers including [ ] who is handling all of [ ] customers during the baseball season. [ ] and [ ] has the responsibility of finding bookmaking locations for the PATRICK group, makes some collections and payoffs, and handles any bookmakers in PATRICK's area who are not operating with an OK.

At least a portion of the monies necessary to conduct PATRICK's bookmaking operation are maintained at the Berwyn Currency Exchange, which is frequented by [redacted] and "YUDIE" LUFMAN. All of the PATRICK organization operates on a .10¢ price line plus 2% of all winnings. b6 b7C

[redacted] and [redacted] operate on a 50/50 basis with PATRICK and they put up all the money. "YUDIE" LUFMAN has a 25% book with PATRICK. Under this arrangement, LUFMAN keeps only 25% of the profit his book makes, but PATRICK puts up all the money. b6 b7C

On May 13, 1970, CG T-8 said that "YUDIE" LUFMAN is the only one of LENNIE PATRICK's bookmakers who is booking baseball bets by calling the bettors from the street.

[redacted] who had a 25% book with PATRICK won $300,000 in his bookmaking operation last year, thereby accounting for $75,000 as [redacted] share. PATRICK considers this too much for one of his bookmakers to earn so he is now giving [redacted] only 12½% of his winnings. b6 b7C

On June 25, 1970, CG T-32 advised that LENNIE PATRICK's bookmakers are paying $300 per month for baseball line information. He stated this baseball line is coming into Chicago by way of Springfield, Illinois, however, he is not aware of the location where this line originates.

Above source stated the PATRICK bookmaking group has lost $250,000 so far this baseball season.

CG 92-374

CG T-8 advised on August 14, 1970, that PATRICK's bookmaking operation has lost approximately $500,000 this baseball season. Of this amount, [redacted] and "YUDIE" LUEMAN have dropped about $125,000 and [redacted] is down about $35,000 to $40,000. b6 b7C

Above informant on September 1, 1970, said that [redacted] who had been booking sports bets for [redacted] TONY SPILOTRO, has told SPILOTRO he wants to stay out of bookmaking. The reason [redacted] wants to get away from SPILOTRO is because TONY has a bad reputation for failure to pay off on big hits. SPILOTRO is alleged to have owed LENNIE PATRICK $10,000 and an unknown amount to [redacted]. Informant said PATRICK's money has been paid off, but doubted that [redacted] received payment. b6 b7C

On September 30, 1970, CG T-55 stated that [redacted] works for [redacted] and takes direct orders from him. [redacted] boss is LENNIE PATRICK who is referred to as "The General". b6 b7C

[redacted] has a source in [redacted] and this source recently told [redacted] to curtail his activities as he was being followed. b6 b7C

Informant stated that [redacted] works as [redacted] for PATRICK and was out of work recently inasmuch as he had "heat" on him. b6 b7C

CG T-8, on October 8, 1970, said that small bookmakers, who have laid off to the PATRICK group in the past, are [redacted] who has a [redacted] by the [redacted] on [redacted] (LNU), from [redacted] and a person referred to as [redacted] who operates around [redacted]. b6 b7C

CG T-57, on October 19, 1970, stated that [redacted] shut down his wireroom operation as all of PATRICK's books closed at the end of business on October 16, 1970. The books will remain closed until they can determine more about the significance of the new gambling legislation. b6 b7C

CG T-56 advised on October 21, 1970, that LENNIE PATRICK sent out orders for all of his bookmakers to shut down. His orders came from GUS ALEX. They are awaiting to see the exact nature of the new Federal crime bill.

Above informant, on October 22, 1970, said that PATRICK does not want anyone in his group to accept a bet until he gives them the word to go ahead. He does not expect anyone to take any chances and he does not want to be placed in the middle by anyone. Once the new crime bill is thoroughly checked, he will have new orders regarding his operation.

CG T-8 advised on October 26, 1970, that since passage of the new gambling legislation, LEONARD PATRICK and HERBERT BLITZSTEIN have ordered all their bookmakers to quit accepting bets until attorneys have had a chance to study all the provisions of the new law. Two attorneys checking this are [redacted] and [redacted] who lives at [redacted] b6 b7C

CG T-55, on November 3, 1970, stated that bookmakers in the PATRICK group are very concerned regarding the granting of immunity to bettors to testify against bookmakers, which is part of the new Federal gambling legislation. In addition, the part in the new legislation which allows the government to take real estate and personal property of a bookmaker, worries them.

On November 16, 1970, CG T-8, advised that PATRICK's bookmakers are still under instructions that they are not to book any bets until told otherwise. [redacted] began booking on his own and when PATRICK learned of this, he personally b6 b7C

CG T-58 advised on November 20, 1970, that the LENNIE PATRICK Bookmaking operation is completely shut down. Because of this PATRICK, [redacted] and [redacted] [redacted] "YUDIE" LUFMAN, and [redacted] have withdrawn all their money from their bookmaking operation from the Berwyn Currency Exchange and split it up among themselves. b6 b7C

Sergeant [redacted] Intelligence Division, Chicago Police Department, advised on December 3, 1970, that LEONARD PATRICK, his brother MIKE PATRICK, and well-known Chicago area hoodlums CHARLES NICOLETTI and MARIO DE STEFANO were arrested on November 18, 1970, after leaving the Papa Milano Pizza, 6415 North Western Avenue, Chicago, and charged with conspiracy to gamble, and released the same day because of insufficient evidence.

CG T-40, on December 17, 1970, stated that [redacted] is the boss of all of LENNIE PATRICK's sports bookmaking operations. All of the bookmakers, including "YUDIE" LUFMAN, funnel all their bets into [redacted] who easily handles a million or two million in bets in a very short period of time. [redacted] is so big he does not have to layoff to anyone. b6 b7C

According to the informant, [redacted] handles only sports bets and all of PATRICK's horse bookmaking operations are funnelled into [redacted] b6 b7C

"YUDIE" and other sports bookmakers will call any horse bets they get into [redacted]

CG 92-374

Checks received in the above bookmaking operations are run through the Berwyn Currency Exchange.

Informant stated that in view of the recent series of Federal gambling arrests in other cities, PATRICK has put out the word that all of his operators should lay low until they can see what is happening.

CG T-40 said that [redacted] brings money around when needed to all of the bookmakers for the PATRICK group. Informant considers [redacted] to be weak and said that if he is put in a bind, he would probably talk. b6 b7C Informant went on to say that "YUDIE" LUFMAN is also very weak and if granted immunity he would implicate DAVE YARAS and PATRICK in their bookmaking operations.

[redacted] of Eli's Steak House is a big bettor with LUFMAN. [redacted] also places some bets for his customers with LUFMAN. b6 b7C

CG T-40 stated that [redacted] whose home telephone number is [redacted] is also a sports bookmaker in LENNIE PATRICK's operation.

CG T-8 on December 29, 1970, stated that LENNIE PATRICK dissolved his bookmaking operation upon passage of the new Federal gambling legislation. Of the bookmakers who formerly worked for him, [redacted] "YUDIE" LUFMAN and [redacted] are still active in bookmaking. Source did not know if they are working independently or for someone. [redacted] allegedly received financial backing from [redacted] and is very likely working with [redacted]

[redacted] and [redacted] are out of bookmaking. [redacted] is attempting to get into the [redacted] business.

CG T-56 advised on January 14, 1971, that LEONARD PATRICK does not have any bookmaking activity going for him wherein he is responsible for same. PATRICK is waiting until he can be assured security or a test case with regard to new Federal legislation is completed.

CG T-32 on January 15, 1971, stated that LEONARD PATRICK has a sports bookmaking office somewhere in the downtown area of Chicago which is going very big. He stated an individual named [redacted] and someone else are sitting in this office every day accepting bets.

On February 16, 1971, CG T-56 advised that although BEN EPSTEIN and LEONARD PATRICK have been close in their activities for years, informant feels certain that EPSTEIN has not been directly associated in PATRICK's gambling activity for several years. EPSTEIN recommends players to PATRICK's group but is not a part of his operation.

CG T-59 advised between February 15, 1971 and March 8, 1971, it is his understanding that all bookmaking operations controlled by LEONARD PATRICK on the far north side of Chicago are, at least temporarily, down.

On March 17, 1971, CG T-8 advised in recent days RALPH PIERCE and LENNIE PATRICK sent word to all their former bookmakers that they have completely disassociated themselves from bookmaking, that they could expect no financial or other assistance, in the event they are arrested by local or federal authorities.

B. Juice Activities

On February 8, 1961, CG T-2 advised that LEONARD PATRICK has a piece of the "juice money" from the "six for five" money at the J and J Picnic Grove, located at 159th Street and Wolf Road in Will County, Illinois. [redacted] works for PATRICK [redacted] at this gambling establishment.

b6

On March 16, 1961, CG T-2 advised that LEONARD PATRICK's main forte is "six for five" loaning of money and the two individuals presently working for PATRICK are one [redacted] and [redacted] who can usually be found in the Lawndale Restaurant at Roosevelt Road and Independence Boulevard, in Chicago.

CG T-60 on February 9, 1961, stated that [redacted] who resides at [redacted] the juice money for LENNIE PATRICK and handles PATRICK's end in the J and J syndicate gambling location. The juice men at the gambling joints frequently are go-betweens for PATRICK who allegedly handles the purchase of stolen jewelry for the syndicate.

On March 15, 1961, CG T-61 advised that one "BOODIE" COWAN is LENNIE PATRICK's front man and also loans out money for PATRICK. Source advised that about a year ago

[redacted] needed $10,000 in a hurry and borrowed the money from COWAN. [redacted] reportedly had to pay 20% interest and borrowed the money for only six months with all transactions in cash. CG T-61 also advised that PATRICK told [redacted]

[redacted] that if he is having any trouble with his collections from his accounts he, PATRICK, would be glad to handle these collections. PATRICK also reportedly told [redacted] that if any of his partners gave him any trouble to let him know and he would handle the matter.

CG T-62 advised on March 20, 1962 that in his opinion, LEONARD and JACK PATRICK are big loan sharks in the Chicago area. He said he heard that the PATRICKs work together with other loan sharks in the Chicago area and will kill for one another should they be requested by any of the associated loan sharks. He stated the most common reason for a person on juice to be killed is to be a "stool pigeon" for any law enforcement agencies.

CG T-63 on October 30, 31, 1963, stated the three chief juice men in the Chicago area are FIORE BUCCIERI, JIMMY ALLEGRETTI and LENNIE PATRICK. PATRICK handles the area north from Rogers Park and his chief juice lieutenant is an individual known as [redacted] [redacted] The hangout for the PATRICK gang is the B and B Delicatessen on Bernard and Peterson Streets near Central Park. He stated the B and B is run by an employee of PATRICK's, named BOODIE.

CG T-6 advised on November 1, 1963 that [redacted] was LENNIE PATRICK's man and that he was in a partnership with [redacted] in shylocking with PATRICK's money in Los Angeles. He would not elaborate on what mutual friends he met PATRICK through or what their association was and stated the only contact he has had with PATRICK at this time is when he writes him an occasional letter. He said he does not have any personal contact with PATRICK in either Chicago or St. Louis as this would be a violation of his parole.

DETAILS

On June 4, 1973, CG T1 advised that LENNY PATRICK was in the Black Angus Restaurant, ten days ago in the company of his girlfriend, [REDACTED] and her husband. This unusual b6 trilogy is comically referred to in gambling b7C circles as the "odd couple." CG T1 stated that PATRICK was aware that the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) has been investigating him for the past two and a half years and is utilizing the Federal Grand Jury (FGJ). In this regard, should PATRICK be granted immunity for any testimony before the FGJ he is prepared to sit in jail throughout the duration of the FGJ.

He has apparently discussed the consequences of his contempt for the FGJ with his attorney and is of the opinion that the maximum stay in jail will be the duration of the FGJ. PATRICK has stated that a renewed FGJ investigation of him with the same immunity followed by his refusal to talk, that a citation for contempt leading to his further incarceration would be clearly un-Constitutional and he would appeal. PATRICK is also of the opinion that the United States Attorney would not jeopardize the immunity laws by bringing him before a second FGJ.

On May 31, 1973, CG T2 advised that [redacted] has been a gambling lieutenant of PATRICK for some time and probably knows his activities better than anyone. He also stated that [redacted] and EUGENE LUFMAN also worked closely with PATRICK in connection with his gambling activities. PATRICK was responsible for LUFMAN getting into the gambling junket business. PATRICK has not been engaged in gambling activities during the past year. b6 b7C

On June 4, 1973, DAVID MARMON was interviewed by Special Agents (SAs) [redacted] and [redacted] regarding information received from a Chicago source that MARMON was on "juice" for life to LENNY PATRICK. MARMON advised that he knew LENNY and MIKE PATRICK, but was never on "juice" to either of them. b6 b7C

From August, 1963, to December, 1963, the Chicago Office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) conducted a Federal Housing Administration (FHA) Case involving a contract which was alleged to have been forged by DAVE MARMON. Handwriting samples were taken from MARMON along with a sworn statement. The samples were sent to the FBI Lab, but before the lab's examination was completed, the Assistant United States Attorney (AUSA) declined prosecution and the samples were returned to the Chicago Office.

When questioned about this previous investigation, MARMON advised that he was never a part of any FBI investigation and denied any knowledge of the above mentioned investigation. He stated he would be willing to take a polygraph examination regarding his involvement with LENNY PATRICK.

CG 92-374

The results of the interview with MARMON are set forth on a FD-302.

Photographs of DAVE MARMON were taken on June 4, 1972, as MARMON departed from the Gold Coin Restaurant in Skokie, Illinois.

They frequent this location two or three times a week for a late breakfast from 11:00 to 11:30 a.m. They have not been observed to meet with other people and always keep to themselves.

On September 10, 1973, Investigator [redacted] of the Chicago Police Department advised that LEONARD PATRICK was in attendance at the wake of FIORE (FIFI) BUCCIERI held in Chicago on August 19, 1973. It should be noted that BUCCIERI was a top member of the Chicago organized crime syndicate.

Reference is made to your communication dated November 16, 1973, your reference HEP:WBL:GS:MM:ejb 123-66, captioned "Name Check for Immunity Request," requesting information on captioned individual.

Enclosed is a copy of FBI Identification Record Number 635 564 for Leonard Patrick, which record is identifiable with the captioned individual.

A review of our files reveals that one Jack Patrick, also known as Leonard Patrick, was investigated by the FBI in Chicago, Illinois, in 1960 regarding an antiracketeering matter wherein it was alleged that Leonard Patrick was involved in a "syndicate" deal involving usurious money lending and the operation in a brick face business. Prosecution was declined in this matter in view of insufficient evidence to substantiate allegations. One Leonard Patrick was the subject of an investigation by the FBI regarding antiracketeering in which he was charged with conspiracy to gamble but was released because of insufficient evidence. Your attention is invited to Chicago report of Special Agent Paul J. Neumann dated December 31, 1970, captioned "Leonard Patrick, Anti-Racketeering," copies of which have been previously furnished to the Organized Crime and Racketeering Section of the Criminal Division. (92-3189-81)

Further review of FBI files reveals that Patrick was well known in racketeering sections in the Chicago area and was associated with a large number of hoodlums and racketeers in Chicago. Leonard Patrick has been alleged to be a bookmaker at Chicago, Illinois, and in this regard has been determined by confidential sources in the Chicago area to have a Chicago policeman on his "payroll." On 1/4/74, [ ] advised he just learned a few hours previous from "LENNIE" PATRICK that DAVE YARAS died suddenly at Miami Beach, Florida. For some reason, his death is being kept as quiet as possible. PATRICK stated he was leaving immediately and would attend the funeral services. From PATRICK, he learned that the wake would be held Saturday night at Blasberg Funeral Home on 71st Street in Miami Beach. Burial was to be on Monday, 1/7, at a cemetery near Miami Beach - Woodlawn Memorial Park.

[ ] stated DAVE's son, LEONARD, has been doing most of the leg work for his father and will probably take over in union affairs. He also added that "LENNIE" PATRICK went to Florida for a good reason. He and YARAS were in on a number of business deals so PATRICK probably was going there to protect his own interests

On 1/11/74, [ ] stated that he has been close to LEONARD PATRICK for a number of years and is familiar with PATRICK's involvement in the Chicago Mafia. He stated that PATRICK contacted him on 1/4/74, to advise him of the death of DAVE YARAS, who died suddenly in Miami Beach, Florida. [ ] stated that PATRICK and YARAS have been involved in a number of business schemes together. In partnership they have owned motels, restaurants, and several small business ventures, which he preferred not to disclose. [ ] stated the death of YARAS will certainly present a problem to PATRICK, and it may take several years for PATRICK to salvage his business operations handled jointly with the deceased YARAS.

[ ] stated that immediately on being notified that YARAS had died, PATRICK had departed for Miami Beach. He has had several phone calls from PATRICK, and during the course of these calls, [ ] was told

[redacted] laughed at this comment by ALEX, and stated it was just like ALEX to do this as he had no use for [redacted] stated that DAVE YARAS and his old partner, "SINGER", are now both deceased, and the third partner in some of their restaurant ventures was LEONARD PATRICK. It will be PATRICK's job now to salvage what he can from these operations, which will be split between himself and the Chicago mob. b2 b6 b7C b7D

'MEYER PATRICK, who resides at 6148 North Francisco, Chicago, Illinois, provided the following information:

He recently spent two weeks in Los Angeles, California, during the month of January, visiting relatives and going to the Santa Anita Race Track.

While in Los Angeles, PATRICK did very little betting on the horses. He explained that he is a good handicapper and can pick usually one winner a day, but this requires studying the racing forms the night before each race. PATRICK advised that he won only a small amount of money while in Los Angeles. Now that he is back in Chicago, he is not attending the track on a daily basis, but he is awaiting the re-opening of Sportsmans Park on April 19. He continues to frequent Terry's Cigar Store on a daily basis where he plays cards and studies the racing forms.

He used to attend the Oak Lawn Race Track in Hot Springs, Arkansas, and would usually be accompanied by his wife. Today, he prefers the tracks in Chicago, Los Angeles, and Miami. He has won as much as $4,000 on a single bet in Sportsmans Park. He considers Sportsmans Park and the Santa Anita Race Track in Los Angeles to be honest race tracks.

The unfavorable press and television coverage regarding his brother, LENNY PATRICK, has been emotionally upsetting for LENNY. LENNY PATRICK is concerned about the outcome of the Federal Grand Jury regarding his voluntarily giving testimony under a grant of immunity. Both MEYER and his brother LENNY feel that [redacted] is trying to frame LENNY. MEYER advised that [redacted] is the type of individual who could possibly kill his brother LENNY if he thought that LENNY was giving unfavorable testimony against him.

MEYER PATRICK was not a friend of DAVE YARAS and did not wish to discuss the relationship between his brother, LENNY, and DAVE YARAS. MEYER did not attend the funeral of YARAS and said he did not like YARAS. He knew YARAS when YARAS had nothing. As YARAS made financial gains, he became arrogant and expected everyone to give him the "royal" treatment. MEYER could never do this and therefore never became friendly with YARAS.

He has similar feelings regarding [REDACTED] b6 considers himself a tough guy but MEYER PATRICK said, "The b7C only tough guys are bullit-proof, and I haven't seen any of them."

MEYER described himself as a loner and when he goes to the race track, he sits by himself and plays his own bets. He advised that he is 63 years old and at this point in life, he does not wish to get involved with other people.

CG 92-374

On March 18, 1974, CG T-1 advised that HERBERT BLITZSTEIN is still working for LEONARD PATRICK.

On March 26, 1974, CG T-2 advised that LEONARD PATRICK was financially backing topless shoe shine joints on Chicago's north side, but has no other function relating to these establishments.

Attorney In Charge PETER VAIRA, Chicago Strike Force, advised that [REDACTED]

On April 16, 1974, CG T-3 advised that LENNY PATRICK and DAVE YARAS were once partners in a restaurant called the Black Angus which was recently sold and purchased by [REDACTED]. The books and records for the Black Angus Restaurant will not show that LENNY PATRICK obtained weekly sums of money from that business. However, this was not the case and LENNY PATRICK received $750 to $1,000 a week from the Black Angus using the following technique:

The Black Angus Restaurant had an extensive Sunday carry out business. All of these carry out orders were rung up on a separate cash register and all of the money taken in was given to LENNY PATRICK. These orders were also rung up on a separate register by one of the four hostesses and in particular the hostess identified as [REDACTED]

During the month of October or November, 1973, LENNY PATRICK received a telephone call from "guys in the outfit," who inquired if [REDACTED] was working for him. PATRICK replied that he did not and thereafter [REDACTED] was approached by these individuals and muscled out of $500 a month.

Title: LEONARD PATRICK

Character: ANTI - RACKETEERING

Synopsis: Chicago hoodlum LEONARD GIANOLA died in July and LEONARD PATRICK is attempting to take over GIANOLA's bookmaking operation. PATRICK is currently frequenting Agostino's Restaurant and is dating the bar maid. Chicago bookmaker [REDACTED] b6 muscled for $100,000.00. [REDACTED] b7C contacted PATRICK at A-1 Linen Supply Company in order to place bets on football games.

On August 2, 1974, CG T-1 stated that recently LEONARD GIANOLA died and his bookmaking operation on the north side of Chicago apparently has been thrown up for grabs. GIANOLA has a number of bookmakers who had taken separate accounts and some of these bookmakers, after the death of GIANOLA had been reluctant to submit to the supervision of LENNIE PATRICK. He stated PATRICK is aware of this objection and CG T-1 stated one of his sources mentioned that PATRICK himself may "knock off" a few of these north side bookmakers to get the rest of them in line.

CG T-1 also discussed at this time the relationship existing between DAVE YARAS and LENNIE PATRICK. Both were involved in a number of business ventures together and when YARAS died it was necessary for PATRICK to attempt to untangle their affairs.

CG 92-374

On September 10, 1972, CG T-2, advised that one LENNY PATRICK frequents Agostino's and is very friendly with [ ] a bar maid, who works most evenings with the exception of Wednesdays and Thursdays. [ ] is approximately [ ] years old.

b7C

On September 24, 1974, and September 26, 1974, CG T-3 and CG T-4 advised that shortly after the death of LEONARD GIANOLA, LEONARD PATRICK allegedly contacted [ ] and muscled him for $100,000.00, which was to be [ ] tribute to PATRICK for operating in PATRICK's territory during the last three years.

On September 23, 1974, CG T-5 advised that [ ] contacted A-1 Linen Supply in order to place bets with LEONARD PATRICK. It is not known whether he made contact with PATRICK but [ ] wanted to place wagers on football games and believed that either PATRICK or [ ] would be able to accommodate him.

On 12/31/74, Sergeant [ ] of the Intelligence Unit of the Chicago Police Department (CGPD) advised that WILLIAM GAMBINO had been seen on numerous occasions entering and leaving the Luxor Bath House in Chicago at the same time as LENNY PATRICK. GAMBINO is a gambler who has a record of several minor gambling arrests by the CGPD. Illinois Bell Telephone Company (IBT) Toll Records show that GAMBINO has been called by [ ] a LENNY PATRICK associate and known bookmaker.

GAMBINO was interviewed regarding his knowledge of LENNY PATRICK and [ ] but was vague and evasive regarding details of his relationship with both individuals. He refused to account for the method in which he obtained his income from 1929 through the present. This information has been given to PETER F. VAIRA, Attorney in Charge, Chicago Strike Force, who is considering the possibility of an IRS investigation regarding GAMBINO's source of income. It is believed that if GAMBINO fears prosecution by the IRS, he may be willing to testify regarding illegal gambling activities of LENNY PATRICK.

Title: LEONARD PATRICK

Synopsis: Subject financing massage parlor. PATRICK obtained more than $100,000.00 from [REDACTED] indicted on [REDACTED] b3
PATRICK expected to cooperate fully regarding testimony b6 against [REDACTED] Publicity regarding PATRICK's testimony b7C against [REDACTED] has caused PATRICK to isolate himself from the public. [REDACTED] continues paying tribute to PATRICK. PATRICK may accept short jail sentence in return for cooperation with government.

-P-

DETAILS:

On December 20, 1974, CG T-1 advised that PATRICK is currently financing a massage parlor on Chicago's north side which features nude women.

On January 31, 1975, CG T-2 advised that [REDACTED] b6
[REDACTED] has given LENNY PATRICK more than $100,000.00 in the b7C past few months. It is believed this money will be used to help pay part of the tax fines levied against PATRICK by the IRS.

On January 21, 1975, an indictment was returned charging [REDACTED] b6
[REDACTED] with failing to report cash b7C payments received by him from LEONARD PATRICK and PATRICK's associate BEN EPSTEIN during 1968 and 1969. [REDACTED] was also charged with failure to report sales income from recording tapes he sold in 1972.

On January 22, 1975, the Chicago Sun-Times featured a story by reporter ART PETACQUE which indicated that LEONARD PATRICK was forced to make disclosures of payoffs to Lt. RONALD O'HARA after being granted immunity from prosecution. This was the basis for the indictment against O'HARA. Therefore, when Lt. O'HARA goes on trial, it is anticipated that PATRICK will be in an unprecedented role; that of a Chicago crime syndicate gambling boss testifying against a policeman. The article also related that O'HARA failed to report an unspecified amount of income he received during 1971 from a business sideline, in which musical tapes were sold.

On January 28, 1975, CG T-3 advised that LENNY PATRICK will probably "go all the way" in his testimony against [redacted] b6
has been a close associate of [redacted] for years and the two have worked together in bookmaking operations in Chicago.

Police records at the Intelligence Unit of the Chicago Police Department show that WILLIAM GAMBINO has been seen entering and leaving the Luxor Bath House with LEONARD PATRICK. GAMBINO is a known gambler and layoff man who has a record of gambling arrests by the Chicago Police. GAMBINO has also placed wagers with [redacted] b6
a PATRICK associate, in the past. b7C

Date of transcription 2/6/75

WILLIAM GAMBINO of 7089 North Caldwell in Chicago, Illinois, and telephone number 774-8671, provided the following information:

He was born and raised in Chicago. His education was terminated after the third grade. He would not account for the early years of his life, but advised that he had a house which he sold for $4,000 in 1929. He refused to say how he acquired the house and became vague about details of his life.

He was advised that he had: the right to remain silent, that anything he said could be used against him, that he had the right to an attorney, and could have an attorney with him during questioning, that he could have one appointed if he could not afford one, and that he could stop talking at any time. GAMBINO advised that he understood his rights and was willing to answer questions.

GAMBINO advised that the money from the sale of his house was invested in the market in 1929. He has always made money in the market but never has been otherwise employed with one exception. He worked in his brothers sandwich shop in 1935.

He was drafted into the army in approximately 1937, and served for several months. From that time forward, he never had any full time employment.

GAMBINO advised that he used to go to Wrigley Field and place bets with the people in the bleachers during Cubs baseball games. He met [redacted] at the baseball games and bet with [redacted]. He also bet with [redacted] when [redacted] was operating a wire room. GAMBINO was arrested on several occasions by the Chicago Police. These arrests were all for illegal gambling activity at the baseball park.

GAMBINO advised that he knows of LEONARD PATRICK and has read about him in the newspapers. He frequents Luxor Baths several times a week, usually between the hours of 11:30 A.M. and 2:00 P.M.. He dismissed as coincidence the fact that he has been seen at Luxor Baths during the same times that LEONARD PATRICK is seen frequenting Luxor Baths. GAMBINO was introduced to the Luxor Bath House by his friend, [REDACTED]

GAMBINO is currently driving a 1974 Cadillac which he owns. He also owns his own home. He claims he and his wife can afford to live well because of the amount of money he began making in the stock market beginning in 1962. He claims that he can document the $25,000.00 he receives in yearly dividends from the stock market.

GAMBINO was unable to explain why he originally advised that he had been making money in the market since 1929, and later claimed that he really began making money in the market in 1962.

GAMBINO is currently in fair health. He has diabetes and glaucoma but is otherwise in good health.

On January 31, 1975, CG T-4 advised that PATRICK has almost become a recluse because of the publicity relating to his testimony against [REDACTED]. He is considered a "stool pidgeon" by his associates in organized crime. In addition to the embarrassment caused by this, he is facing a possible jail sentence for income tax evasion and is attempting to devise legal strategy with his attorney, in order to free himself from this dilemma.

b7C

On February 14, 1974, CG T-5 advised that PATRICK has become a "sorry case". Hoodlums and other organized crime figures are avoiding PATRICK because of his involvement in the government case against [REDACTED]. When PATRICK attended the wake of NANCY RICCA, everyone avoided him.

b7C

On February 26, 1975, CG T-6 advised that PATRICK's gambling associate [REDACTED] continues to pay him $3,000.00 a month in connection with [REDACTED] bookmaking operation.

b6
b7C

On February 27, 1974, CG T-2 advised that PATRICK has considered the possibility of making a deal with the government which may require a one year jail sentence. PATRICK has indicated he may be willing to accept a jail sentence.

WILLIAM GAMBINO of 7089 North Caldwell, Chicago, Illinois, who has telephone number 774-8671, provided the following information after being advised of his rights as shown on the "Interrogation; Advice of Rights" form, FD-395:

He and his brother had inherited a house from their mother which they sold in 1929. His share amounted to $4,000.00, which he invested in the stock market. He advised that the only jobs he had were during a time period between approximately 1936 and 1938.

GAMBINO worked in his brother's sandwich shop in 1936 and in his brother's bar the following year as a partner. He also served several months in the Army in 1937 and then worked as an errand boy for a printing firm and delivered dresses for a woman's clothing store the following year.

GAMBINO advised that he began making money in the stock market in 1956. He said that he could not remember how he made money during those years he was not working, and does not remember anything he did between 1929 through 1936.

Goodbody and Company is the brokerage firm that handled GAMBINO's stock transactions. GAMBINO advised that Goodbody and Company merged with Merrill, Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith who then handled his transactions.

GAMBINO admitted to having been a gambler in the past. He placed bets with his friend [redacted] at Wrigley Field during Cubs baseball games. [redacted] never bet before the game, but waited to see how the game was going. [redacted] would then set a point spread between the two teams based on his judgment as to which team would win and by how much. He would then place bets on the games.

GAMBINO also placed bets with [REDACTED] b6 during the past several years but he has not been engaged b7C in illegal gambling activities recently. He admitted knowing LEONARD PATRICK by reputation but said that he did not know PATRICK. He dismissed as coincidence the fact that he had been observed entering the Luxor Bath House with LEONARD PATRICK.

GAMBINO advised that he had nothing additional to add to the information he previously furnished to SA [REDACTED] b6
[REDACTED] on January 29, 1975. b7C

WILLIAM GAMBINO was interviewed on February 4, 1975, and on April 30, 1975, regarding his knowledge of LEONARD PATRICK.

During both interviews, subject admitted knowing and gambling with [redacted] The Chicago Police have observed GAMBINO entering and exiting the Luxor Bath House in Chicago with LEONARD PATRICK but GAMBINO denies having a close relationship with PATRICK. GAMBINO may be subpoenaed to testify before the Federal Grand Jury investigating activities of PATRICK. b6 b7C

GAMBINO refused to account for his means of obtaining an income from 1962 through the present. [redacted] the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) Strike Force representative, advised that he will be investigating the IRS returns for [redacted] b6 b7C

On January 21, 1975, based primarily on information provided by FBI, an indictment was returned charging [redacted] with failing to report cash payments he received from PATRICK and EPSTEIN in his 1968 and 1969 Federal income tax returns, and also with his failure to report $65,000 in sales income from recording tapes he sold in 1972. b6 b7C

On June 9, 1975, trial of [redacted] on above indictment commenced in United States District Court, Chicago, with selection of jury.

On June 10, 1975, presiding Judge MARSHALL granted immunity to PATRICK who was called as first witness for prosecution. When PATRICK persisted in invoking Fifth Amendment under grant, Judge MARSHALL placed PATRICK in immediate custody of United States Marshal for civil contempt and he was ordered to remain incarcerated for duration of trial or until he purges self of contempt by agreeing to testify. Judge further ordered United States Attorney (USA) to file petition for an order to show cause why PATRICK should not be required to be tried by jury for criminal contempt under provisions of Rule 42B, Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure.

Above contempt citations of PATRICK expected to receive extensive coverage by news media in view of hoodlum stature of PATRICK and alleged involvement of [redacted] who has long been on PATRICK's payroll and generally known to have performed wiretapping functions for the PATRICK group.

Attorney in Charge (AIC) PETER F. VAIRA, Chicago Strike Force, advised he is hopeful PATRICK will receive criminal contempt sentence of four to five years after short jury trial provided for under Rule 42B. VAIRA considers incarceration of PATRICK most significant milestone of investigation of his gambling group which was initiated over five years ago.

On June 11, 1975, Judge PRENTICE H. MARSHALL again required PATRICK to be placed under oath and asked to testify under a grant of use immunity. PATRICK refused and therefore he failed to purge himself of civil contempt for which he was found guilty on June 10, 1975.

Judge MARSHALL advised PATRICK that this refusal is a separate act of contempt and again ordered the USA to initiate legal proceedings charging PATRICK with criminal contempt under provisions of Rule 42B. The judge advised PATRICK this was a most serious matter and PATRICK was taken into custody by the United States Marshal for the duration of the [redacted] trial.

On June 12, 1975, United States District Court jury returned a verdict of not guilty in the [redacted] case on the only remaining count of the Internal Revenue code violation charging that [redacted] failed to declare $65,000 of income in 1972. AIC PETER VAIRA of the Chicago Strike Force advised that Judge MARSHALL is aware that the refusal of LEONARD PATRICK to testify under a grant of immunity was fatal to the Government's case against [redacted] VAIRA presented a petition to Judge MARSHALL which required PATRICK to show why he should not be held in criminal contempt. Judge MARSHALL has issued an order requiring a jury trial in the very near future. VAIRA anticipates the trial will be of a very short duration since there appears to be prima facie evidence at this point.

On June 17, 1975, [redacted] and [redacted] bookmakers in the [redacted] TO - LEONARD PATRICK gambling operation, appeared before Judge KIRKLAND, United States District Court, Chicago, and pleaded guilty to Illegal Gambling Business (IGB) violations. Sentencing has been set for September 9, 1975.

[redacted] another member of this gambling operation, also pleaded guilty to IGB violations on June 20, 1975. [redacted] and [redacted] who are involved in this gambling operation, are currently negotiating with Government attorneys for assurance that they will not be granted immunity before the Federal Grand Jury in the event that they also plead guilty. At this time, the Government is making no assurances.

b7C

On June 24, 1975, Special Attorney [redacted] of the Chicago Strike Force advised that he has furnished the [redacted] with pertinent information concerning the gambling payments by PATRICK to [redacted] inasmuch as [redacted] is considering presenting this evidence before the hearing board to determine whether or not [redacted] Special Agent VINCENT L. INSERRA was contacted by [redacted] in March of 1969, at which time, [redacted] made certain admissions to Special Agent INSERRA concerning his association with the PATRICK gambling association.

On July 1, 1975, Special Agent INSERRA testified before [redacted] hearing board regarding [redacted] admissions made during the March, 1969, contact.

b6
b7C

Information was received by the Chicago Division from an anonymous source that [redacted] and [redacted] had formerly been associated with [redacted] and may be able to provide some information regarding [redacted] background and possibly [redacted] association with the hoodlum element in Chicago. Both individuals were interviewed and the results are set forth.

store which featured novelty items. The store was located at [redacted] also was a distributor of records and duplicated tapes. He characterized the duplicated tapes as bootleg tapes. [redacted] ordered the bootleg tapes from California organizations.

The original version of a recording by a major recording studio costs considerably more than a bootleg version, and in late 1971 or early 1972 there was no Federal law prohibiting the sale of bootleg tapes. The profit margin was excellent for anyone engaged in the sale of bootleg tapes.

It was at approximately this time that [redacted] attended a house wares show at Navy Pier where he along with other companies were displaying bootleg tapes which [redacted] believed to be legal as saleable items under Federal law.
At that time, major recording studios had employed [redacted] [redacted] law firm to represent them in a law suit to prohibit the sale of bootleg tapes. $25,000 was allegedly given to the firm for this purpose.

b6
b7C

[redacted] and other bootleg tape distributors were served with cease and desist orders prohibiting them from engaging in the sale of bootleg tapes. [redacted] hired an attorney who advised him that he should not become involved in a costly legal battle because the larger bootleg distributors would be contesting the cease and desist order and if they were successful, [redacted] would also reap the benefits.
An Illinois statute of "Unfair Competition" made it illegal to engage in the sale of bootleg tapes within Illinois. This

[ ] said that although no Federal laws prohibiting the sale of bootleg tapes were in effect, the State of Illinois was one of seven or eight states who prohibited the sale on a state level.

In approximately July of 1972, [ ] stopped in [ ] to return some strobe lights to [ ]. This was the first time [ ] saw [ ]. To the best of [ ] recollection, the strobe lights were sold to [ ] by [ ] outside salesman [ ]. [ ] believes that [ ] sold the strobe lights to [ ] at [ ].

At this point, [ ] recognized [ ] and called [ ] out of the office to inform him of [ ] identity. ELECTRONIC SURVEILLANCE Reference is made to your memorandum dated July 29, 1975, RLT:WSL:JFL:sam, 177-12, requesting electronic surveillance information on captioned individual, and this Bureau's memorandum dated July 9, 1973, captioned, "Leonard Patrick; Electronic Surveillance."

A review has been made of appropriate records regarding Leonard Patrick and since referenced memorandum dated July 9, 1973, it has been determined that Patrick was not the target of an electronic surveillance nor were any of his conversations monitored by an electronic device of the FBI. Further, this Bureau did not maintain any electronic surveillance on premises which were known to have been owned, leased, or licensed by Patrick.

It is suggested that other Federal investigative agencies be contacted to determine if they had coverage of the subject.

VAIRA FURTHER ADVISED PATRICK'S ATTORNEY [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] HAS STATED HE INTENDS TO ESTABLISH A DEFENSE IN CONTEMPT TRIAL THAT [REDACTED] THREATENED PATRICK'S LIFE IF PATRICK GOING TO TESTIFY FOR PROSECUTION IN [REDACTED] TRIAL, AND THAT PATRICK'S REFUSAL TO TESTIFY UNDER GRANT OF IMMUNITY WAS BASED UPON FEAR OF BODILY HARM AND WAS THEREFORE NOT INTENTIONALLY CONTEMPTUOUS. b6 b7C

OF COURSE, ONLY WAY PATRICK CAN ESTABLISH ABOVE DEFENSE IS TO TAKE WITNESS STAND HIMSELF AND TESTIFY AS TO [REDACTED] THREAT UNDER OATH, WHICH COULD GIVE RISE TO FUTURE PROSECUTION OF [REDACTED] FOR OBSTRUCTION OF JUSTICE. b6 b7C

VAIRA IS OF OPINION ABOVE PATRICK DEFENSE NOT SUFFICIENT

Synopsis:

PATRICK out on bond, awaiting his appeal, which is based on four points.

DETAILS:

On February 12, 1976, Assistant United States Attorney (AUSA) [REDACTED] told Special Agent (SA) [REDACTED] that he received a copy of PATRICK's appeal which was filed with the 7th Circuit Court of Appeals, by PATRICK's Attorney [REDACTED]

The appeal is based on four points:

1) Attorney [REDACTED] contends that the Immunity Statute as applied to PATRICK, is unconstitutional because a witness making two inconsistent statements while under oath can be tried for perjury and the government does not have to prove which statement is false. It is AUSA [REDACTED] opinion that this was not a misuse of the Immunity Statute since the immunity given at the trial would give the witness immunity from any act of perjury committed previously in the Federal Grand Jury (FGJ) regarding the same matter.

Appeal from the United States District Court for the Northern District of Illinois, No. 75-CR-397

PRENTICE H. MARSHALL, Judge

ARGUED APRIL 14, 1976 — DECIDED SEPTEMBER 23, 1976

Before HASTINGS, Senior Circuit Judge, TONE, Circuit Judge, and NOLAND, District Judge.*

NOLAND, District Judge. This appeal arises from appellant Leonard Patrick's conviction of the charge of criminal contempt of court, pursuant to 18 U.S.C. §401<sup>1</sup> and Rule 42 of the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure. Patrick was found guilty after a trial by jury for his refusal to obey a court order directing him to answer

§401 Power of Court.

A court of the United States shall have power to punish by fine or imprisonment, at its discretion, such contempt of its authority, and none other, as—questions during the course of a criminal trial in which he had been granted immunity under 18 U.S.C. §§6002-6003 in exchange for his testimony. Upon his conviction Patrick was sentenced to a term of four years. We affirm the conviction below.

I.

The record herein discloses that on January 31, 1974, Patrick was granted immunity pursuant to 18 U.S.C. §§6002-6003 and ordered to testify before the Special January 1974 Grand Jury for the Northern District of Illinois. On two prior occasions Patrick had appeared before the grand jury but had refused to testify on the basis of his Fifth Amendment privilege against self-incrimination. After receiving immunity Patrick appeared before the grand jury on February 6, 1974, and gave testimony concerning his knowledge of gambling activities in the Chicago area and his past relationship with Lieutenant Ronald O'Hara of the Chicago Police Department. Patrick also testified before the grand jury on February 27, 1974, and December 17, 1974, concerning the same inquiry. Primarily as a result of Patrick's testimony, O'Hara was charged in January 1975, under a three-count indictment, two of which counts alleged that O'Hara had failed to report money received from Patrick on his 1968 and 1969 federal income tax returns.

The O'Hara trial commenced on June 9, 1975, before Judge Marshall in the United States District Court for the Northern District of Illinois. Prior to his being called to the stand on June 10, 1975, as the government's first witness, Patrick was again granted immunity pursuant to 18 U.S.C. §§6002-6003 for any testimony he might give at such trial. The court then ordered Patrick to testify and advised him that no testimony compelled under such immunity order could be used against him in any criminal case, except for a prosecution for perjury, giving a false statement, or otherwise failing to comply with the court's order under §§6002-6003.

After being duly sworn as a witness, Patrick stated his name and that he resided in Chicago but refused to answer any questions concerning his connection with gambling activities during 1968-1969 and of his relationship with O'Hara during those years. Patrick consistently justified his refusal to answer such questions by stating:

"I respectfully decline to answer on the ground that my answer may tend to incriminate me and on any other ground presented or to be presented by my counsel."

Upon further inquiry by the court and a re-reading of the immunity order, Patrick stated that he understood the order but he continued to refuse to answer the government's questions. The court then found Patrick to be in civil contempt and remanded him to the custody of the United States Marshal.

On June 11, 1975, Patrick was returned to court and given a chance to purge himself of civil contempt and avoid further prosecution for criminal contempt. Again Patrick was advised of the immunity order entered by the court but he continued to assert the same objections and refused to answer the government's questions. Patrick was again held pursuant to the civil contempt order and a petition was filed for a rule to show cause why Patrick should not be held in criminal contempt, pursuant to Rule 42(b) of the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure. Trial was thereafter held upon Patrick's plea of not guilty, and upon conviction he was sentenced to a term of four years.

II.

The first issue raised by Patrick is whether immunity conferred pursuant to 18 U.S.C. §§6002-6003 prohibits the use of the compelled testimony in an "inconsistent declarations" prosecution under 18 U.S.C. §1623(c)<sup>2</sup> and is, therefore, co-extensive with the privilege against self-incrimination under the Fifth Amendment. Patrick argues that notwithstanding his immunization prior to testifying before the grand jury and again prior to being called as a witness in the O'Hara trial, he still could have been prosecuted under §1623(c) if his testimony at trial was materially inconsistent with his testimony before the grand jury.<sup>3</sup> Therefore, Patrick alleges his assertion of the privilege against self-incrimination was proper and that the court erred in denying his motion to dismiss the order to show cause on such ground. The government responds that Patrick's immunity would extend to protection from prosecution under §1623(c) because the use of any immunized testimony to demonstrate Patrick's having made inconsistent declarations would be forbidden by the immunity statute as interpreted in Kastigar v. United States, 406 U.S. 441 (1972).

(c) An indictment or information for violation of this section alleging that, in any proceedings before or ancillary to any court or grand jury of the United States, the defendant under oath has knowingly made two or more declarations, which are inconsistent to the degree that one of them is necessarily false, need not specify which declaration is false if—(1) each declaration was material to the point in question, and (2) each declaration was made within the period of the statute of limitations for the offense charged under this section.

Our research has uncovered no cases which clearly resolve the particular challenge brought herein to §§6002-6003 immunity. It is well settled, however, that the grant of use and derivative use immunity under §§6002-6003 is co-extensive with the Fifth Amendment privilege against self-incrimination, Kastigar v. United States, supra, 406

In any prosecution under this section, the falsity of a declaration set forth in the indictment or information shall be established sufficient for conviction by proof that the defendant while under oath made irreconcilably contradictory declarations material to the point in question in any proceeding before or ancillary to any court or grand jury. It shall be a defense to an indictment or information made pursuant to the first sentence of this subsection that the defendant at the time he made such declaration believed the declaration was true.

<sup>3</sup> The distinguishing feature of a §1623(c) prosecution is that the government need only demonstrate that the defendant made two or more declarations under oath which were material to the issue in question and were inconsistent to the degree that one of them is necessarily false. The government need not allege nor prove which declaration was in fact false. The primary purpose of this section was to avoid the "two witnesses" rule of perjury prosecutions which demands that the falsity of a perjured statement be established by the testimony of two independent witnesses. See United States v. Gross, 375 F. Supp. 971, 975 (D. N.J. 1974), aff'd 511 F.2d 910, 914 (3rd Cir.), cert. denied, 423 U.S. 924 (1975); see also 1970 U.S. Code Cong. & Ad. News p. 4007.

This court has previously upheld the constitutionality of §1623. See e.g. United States v. Isaacs, 493 F.2d 1124, 1155-56 (7th Cir.), cert. denied, 417 U.S. 976 (1974).

U.S. at 453; United States v. Capetto, 502 F.2d 1351, 1359 (7th Cir. 1974), cert. denied, 420 U.S. 925 (1975), and that the statute "prohibits the prosecutorial authorities from using the compelled testimony in any respect," except a prosecution for perjury, giving a false statement, or otherwise failing to comply with the order. Kastigar v. United States, supra. This latter qualification recognizes, for example, that if the witness commits perjury in giving the compelled testimony, the grant of immunity will not protect him from a perjury prosecution since no immunity attaches to false testimony given pursuant to the immunity order. United States v. Tramunti, 500 F.2d 1335, 1342-44 (2nd Cir. 1974).

Patrick primarily relies on the case of United States v. Hockenberry, 474 F.2d 247 (3rd Cir. 1973), which held that the immunity statute permits the introduction in evidence of so much of the witness' testimony as is essential to establish the corpus delicti of the offense of perjury, i.e., proving the witness made the statement. Patrick thus argues that it would not be improper for the government to use his immunized testimony in a §1623 (c) prosecution merely for the purpose of establishing the corpus delicti, i.e., that he made the inconsistent declarations. Since the government would not have to prove which one of the two inconsistent declarations was false, the mere offering of proof that such declarations were made would establish the offense. While we agree with the court in Hockenberry that the witness' immunized testimony may be used to establish the fact that he committed perjury in the giving of such testimony, we do not agree with Patrick's assertion that such testimony could also be used to establish the corpus delicti of an inconsistent declarations prosecution. We believe such use was not intended by Congress to come within the exception found in §6002 that the compelled testimony may be used in "a prosecution for perjury, giving a false statement, or otherwise failing to comply with the order." As recognized by this Court in United States v. Watkins, 505 F.2d 545 (7th Cir. 1974), this exception refers only to "future" perjury, false statements or non-compliance with the court order. To interpret this perjury exception to include a prosecution under §1623(c) for inconsistent statements, some of which were made prior to the latest grant of immunity, would be too broad of a reading of §6002.

The effect of inconsistent statements on immunity grants was discussed by the Illinois Supreme Court in the recent case of People v. Denson, 59 Ill. 2d 546, 322 N.E.2d 464 (1975). In Denson the witness was held in contempt for refusal to testify at trial despite her being granted immunity for such testimony. The witness refused to testify on Fifth Amendment grounds arguing that such compelled testimony could be used to show inconsistencies with her grand jury testimony and she therefore faced the possibility of prosecution under an inconsistent declarations provision of the state perjury statute.<sup>4</sup> The court in relying on the case of People v. Walker, 28 Ill. 2d 585, 192 N.E.2d 819 (1963), held that the testimony given under the immunity order could not be used to show inconsistencies with her grand jury testimony. Therefore, her refusal to testify was not justifiable on Fifth Amendment grounds.

Patrick attempts to distinguish the Denson holding on the basis that Illinois has a transactional immunity statute, as opposed to the use immunity statute applicable herein. We do not believe such distinction between the types of immunity afforded in the Denson case and under §§6002-6003 to be important. As recognized by the Illinois court in Walker, perjury by inconsistent statements must necessarily be shown through the use of the immunized testimony. We believe such use to be improper under Kastigar and that Congress intended immunity conferred under §6002 to extend to "inconsistent declarations" prosecutions under §1623(c).

We therefore conclude that §§6002-6003 does not allow use of the immunized testimony to establish the basis for prosecution under 18 U.S.C. §1623(c) and that Patrick's challenge to his immunity order on Fifth Amendment grounds was improper.

III.

Patrick next contends that sufficient evidence was presented in support of his asserted defense of duress to justify having such defense submitted to the jury. At the conclusion of the evidence the Judge ruled that insufficient evidence had been presented to support the defense, curtailed closing argument thereon, and refused to instruct the jury as to the defense.

The parties are in agreement that a defendant is entitled to have the jury consider any theory of defense which is supported by law and has some foundation in the evidence, even though such evidence may be weak, insufficient or of doubtful credibility. United States v. Lehman, 468 F.2d 93, 108 (7th Cir.), cert. denied, 409 U.S. 967 (1972); United States v. Vole, 435 F.2d 774, 776-77 (7th Cir. 1970). However, if the defendant fails to sustain his evidentiary burden the court is duty-bound not to instruct the jury on the defense. United States v. Cullen, 454 F.2d 386, 390 (7th Cir. 1971). Historically the courts have struggled in attempting to formulate a quantitative measure of the amount of evidence necessary to raise an issue for jury consideration, but it goes without saying that the differing facts of each case make any meaningful comparisons almost impossible.

Before reviewing the evidence presented below in an attempt to determine whether Patrick satisfied his preliminary burden with respect to the defense of duress, we must initially identify the elements of such defense. In the recent case of United States v. Nickels, 502 F.2d 1173 (7th Cir. 1974), cert. denied, 96 S.Ct. 2237 (1976), this court was faced with a situation wherein the defendant had asserted duress as a defense to the charge of committing perjury before a grand jury. While agreeing that duress could be a defense to such a charge, the court held:

"In any event, this Circuit follows the common law rule that duress is a defense only if the defendant reasonably feared immediate death or severe bodily injury which could be avoided only by committing the criminal act charged. United States v. Stevison, 471 F.2d 143, 147 (7th Cir. 1972), following Shannon v. United States, 76 F.2d 490, 493 (10th Cir. 1935)." 502 F.2d at 1177.

The Tenth Circuit in Shannon v. United States, supra, similarly enunciated the test as follows:

"Coercion which will excuse the commission of a criminal act must be immediate and of such nature as to induce a well-grounded apprehension of death or serious bodily injury if the act is not done. One who has full opportunity to avoid the act without danger of that kind is not entitled to an instruction submitting that question to the jury." 76 F.2d at 493.<sup>5</sup>

Without attempting to fully recount the testimony presented in support of the defense of duress, we will attempt to summarize the evidence which Patrick relies upon to justify his refusal to answer questions at the O'Hara trial. It is undisputed that, beginning immediately after Patrick's first immunized grand jury appearance O'Hara made several visits to the Patrick home in an attempt to communicate with Patrick. On February 9, 1974, three days after Patrick's initial immunized appearance before the grand jury, O'Hara appeared at the home of Patrick's daughter, ex-wife, and aunts.<sup>6</sup> When informed that Patrick was not at home, O'Hara asked one of Patrick's aunts to tell Patrick to get in touch with him as soon as possible. O'Hara further stated, "It's very important that I see him because it don't only involve him, it involves his family, too." When Patrick was informed of O'Hara's visit he told his family that O'Hara was dangerous<sup>7</sup> and that they should not answer the door. The evidence suggests that Patrick was very concerned and upset about O'Hara's visit and that he contacted his attorney, who thereafter advised Patrick to leave town for the time being. Patrick's attorney contacted the United States Attorney's office and asked that O'Hara be kept away from Patrick. Patrick's attorney refused a government offer to provide protection for Patrick upon the belief Patrick would not have wanted such protection and also upon the belief that the offer was not bona fide.

<sup>5</sup> Cited with approval by this court in United States v. Cullen, supra, 454 F.2d at 391 n. 12.

<sup>6</sup> Although Patrick did not actually live at this house, he visited there daily and was in constant communication with his daughter. This house will be generally referred to as Patrick's home.

<sup>7</sup> Patrick presented testimony to the effect that O'Hara had a reputation for being a killer and quite dangerous. Patrick also suggested that although he was aware that grand jury proceedings are to be secret, O'Hara had ways of finding out the extent of Patrick's testimony.

Approximately one week later O'Hara made another visit to the Patrick home and again explained that he must get in touch with Patrick. At his February 27, 1974, appearance before the grand jury, Patrick testified that O'Hara had visited his home and he also gave information he had concerning the basis for O'Hara's reputation as a killer. However, Patrick did not advise the grand jury of the alleged threats made by O'Hara. Shortly thereafter O'Hara again came to the Patrick home but Patrick refused to answer the door. Late in the fall of 1974 O'Hara again came to the Patrick home. When informed that Patrick was not at home, O'Hara allegedly became upset and said that Patrick had better get in touch with him or "... there is going to be a lot of heartache for all of you."

Patrick again testified before the grand jury on December 17, 1974, and O'Hara was indicted in January 1975. During the following May, O'Hara came to the Patrick home and, upon being advised Patrick was not there, told Patrick's daughter: "Either I see your father before my case goes to trial or you are all going to suffer, and you tell him that, and tell him not to forget it." Upon being informed of O'Hara's recent visit and message, Patrick advised his attorney that he was not anxious to testify against O'Hara. Upon being subpoenaed to testify at the O'Hara trial on June 10, 1975, Patrick refused to answer questions pertaining to O'Hara.

We should initially point out that the testimony presented by Patrick and others in his behalf indicates a sincere belief on the part of Patrick that O'Hara was a dangerous person who seemingly presented a threat to the safety and well-being of Patrick and his family. Patrick asserts that he was very much afraid of O'Hara and that this fear carried over into the lives of his family and friends. We must point out, however, that fear, by itself, will not legally justify or excuse a witness' refusal to testify in violation of a court order. Piemonte v. United States, 367 U.S. 556, 559 n. 2 (1961); United States v. Leyva, 513 F.2d 774, 790 (5th Cir. 1975). Before Patrick is entitled to have the jury consider O'Hara's actions as a defense to his refusal to obey the court's order, he must present evidence on all of the elements of the defense of duress.

As the cases cited earlier indicate, the element of immediacy is of crucial importance in any attempt to raise duress as a defense to criminal charge. Although evidence was presented demonstrating a reasonable apprehension of injury by Patrick as a result of O'Hara's threats, there is no evidence that such injury was present, immediate, or impending. In light of the fact that apparently no action was taken by O'Hara to carry out his threats of the past eighteen months, we believe Patrick failed to demonstrate the immediacy of his fear. The record fails to disclose any evidence that O'Hara made any attempt to contact Patrick from the time of his last visit to the Patrick home in May until the time his trial was to commence on June 9, 1975.

The court in the case of R. I. Recreation Center v. Aetna Casualty & Surety Co., 177 F.2d 603 (1st Cir. 1949), in reaching the conclusion that no evidence had been presented on the defense of coercion, stated that "a veiled threat of future unspecified harm . . . is not the equivalent of an immediate threat of death or severe bodily injury." Id., at 605. We believe such principle is applicable herein.

Additionally, it is our belief Patrick also failed to take the reasonable steps available in an attempt to extricate himself from the apparent danger. Although Patrick warned his family of O'Hara's dangerous reputation and informed his attorney of the threats, at or near the commencement of the O'Hara trial he failed to take any measures to protect himself or his family from O'Hara. Patrick warned his family of O'Hara's dangerous reputation. At the time of his refusal to obey the order to testify, we believe he had an affirmative duty to inform the government authorities and the court of the threats and of his reluctance to testify unless adequate safeguards were taken to protect himself and his family and prevent retaliation from O'Hara. At the time of his refusal to testify Patrick made no attempt to inform the court as to his fears, the basis therefor, and the steps he had taken to alleviate the alleged danger so that he might comply with the law.

As recognized in Shannon v. United States, supra, one who has an opportunity to avoid violating the law without subjecting himself to immediate danger may not assert such threats as a defense and is not entitled to an instruction submitting such defense to the jury. 76 F.2d at 493. Under the circumstances of his case, we believe that as a matter of law Patrick failed to take sufficient steps to avoid subjecting himself to the alleged danger without disobeying the order to testify.

The public is entitled to any man's evidence concerning criminal acts committed by another. Piemonte v. United States, supra, 367 U.S. at 559. The entire criminal justice process could be rendered inoperable if a witness with evidence concerning a crime could refuse to provide such evidence based on a few vague threats of reprisal made during the eighteen month period of time preceding the witness' appearance in court.

Because we believe that Patrick failed to present evidence as to the immediacy of the danger to which he and his family were subjected or that he had no other opportunity to obey the court's order without subjecting himself to such danger, the court below did not err in withdrawing the defense of duress from the jury's consideration.

IV.

Patrick next argues the court erred in instructing the jury as to the "willfulness" element of criminal contempt. Concerning this element of the offense the jury was instructed as follows:

"An act or failure to act is 'willfully' done if done voluntarily and intentionally, and with the specific intent to fail to do something the law requires to be done; that is to say, with the purpose either to disobey or disregard the law."

The only distinction between the instruction given and the one tendered by Patrick was the omission of the word "bad" just preceding the word "purpose." Similarly, except for that slight modification, the instruction given is identical to the standard instruction on willfulness. See Devitt and Blackmar, Federal Jury Practice and Instructions, §16.14 and cases cited therein. Patrick argues that his motive in this case is crucial and therefore that "bad purpose" is a necessary element of the willfulness instruction.

It is axiomatic that in determining the propriety of instructions they are to be viewed as a whole. United States v. Brown, 518 F.2d 821, 826 (7th Cir.), cert. denied 423 U.S. 917 (1975); United States v. Johnson, 515 F.2d 730, 732-33 n. 7 (7th Cir. 1975). As long as the instructions treat the issues fairly and adequately they will not be interfered with on appeal. United States v. Isaacs, 493 F.2d 1124, 1163 (7th Cir.), cert. denied, 417 U.S. 976 (1974). The instructions given herein properly advised the jury that in order for Patrick to be found guilty of criminal contempt they had to find that he acted with specific intent and that he intentionally failed to testify as he was directed to do. Regardless of Patrick's motive for his refusal to testify,<sup>8</sup> as long as such refusal was volitional and done with the awareness it was wrongful, the degree of intent necessary for a conviction was established. United States v. Seale, 461 F.2d 345, 368 (7th Cir. 1972).

Other courts have held that the words "bad purpose" are not a mandatory element of a jury charge defining <sup>8</sup> In the case of United States v. Cullen, 454 F.2d 386 (7th Cir. 1971), which involved a prosecution for the willful destruction of public records, this court discussed the problem of equating motive with intent and stated:

In a case such as this, if the proof discloses that the prohibited act was voluntary, and that the defendant actually knew, or reasonably should have known, that it was a public wrong, the burden of proving the requisite intent has been met; proof of motive, good or bad, has no relevance to that issue. 454 F.2d at 392. Similarly, the Fourth Circuit stated as follows in the case of United States v. Moylan, 417 F.2d 1002 (4th Cir. 1969), cert. denied, 397 U.S. 910 (1970):

To read the term "willfully" to require a bad purpose would be to confuse the concept of intent with that of motive. The statutory requirement of willfulness is satisfied if the accused acted intentionally, with knowledge that he was breaching the statute . . . [W]hatever motive may have led them to do the act is not relevant to the question of the violation of the statute, but is rather an element proper for the judge's consideration in sentencing. 417 F.2d at 1004.

wilfullness. See e.g., Cooley v. United States, 501 F.2d 1249 (9th Cir. 1974), cert. denied, 419 U.S. 1123 (1975); United States v. Malinowski, 472 F.2d 850, 855 (3rd Cir.), cert. denied, 411 U.S. 970 (1973). In viewing the instructions given herein, we believe the jury was properly advised that the crime of criminal contempt requires a specific intent to consciously disregard an order of the court. In light of the insufficiency of evidence to support the defense of duress, the Judge acted properly in restricting Patrick's attempt to argue his motive for refusing to testify as ordered. We find no error in the instructions as given below.

V.

With regard to Patrick's contention that the District Judge should have disqualified himself sua sponte in this cause, Patrick alleges the Judge's reading and consideration of his grand jury testimony caused the Judge to form such an adverse personal opinion of Patrick that it was incumbent upon him to have disqualified herein.

The record reflects that Judge Marshall did afford Patrick an opportunity to request trial before another judge but such opportunity was not accepted. Similarly, at no time during the proceedings below did Patrick advise the court of any desire for a different judge or of any dissatisfaction with his impartiality.<sup>9</sup> Patrick argues, however, that such bias did not become apparent until the sentencing proceedings when the Judge advised Patrick that he had read the transcripts of his grand jury testimony and was distressed at his open refusal to testify in a similar manner at the O'Hara trial.

The law is well settled that one must raise the disqualification of the judge at the earliest moment after knowledge of the facts demonstrating the basis for such disqualification. Satterfield v. Edenton-Chowan Board of Education, 530 F.2d 567, 574-75 (4th Cir. 1975); Duplan Corporation v. Deering Milliken, Inc., 400 F.Supp. 497, 505-06 (D.S.C. 1975); Hall v. Burkett, 391 F.Supp. 237, <sup>9</sup> If Patrick had made a verified motion for a change of judge pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §144 alleging facts sufficient to show bias, Judge Marshall would have been required to grant such motion even though he believed the allegations therein to be false. Berger v. United States, 255 U.S. 22, 35-36 (1921); United States v. Sciuto, 531 F.2d 842, 845 (7th Cir. 1976).

241 (W.D. Okl. 1975). We believe it was incumbent upon Patrick to have raised his contentions concerning any bias on the part of Judge Marshall as soon as the basis for such a belief surfaced during the sentencing proceedings. Such objection would have allowed the Judge an opportunity to respond to Patrick's present allegation.

In the recent case of United States v. Jeffers, 532 F.2d 1101 (7th Cir. 1976), this court discussed many of the cases in which a defendant has argued the judge was improperly biased by reason of some prior judicial connection with the defendant. Therein the principle was recognized the judge is presumed to be impartial and it was further noted that unless facts are presented alleging "personal" as opposed to "judicial" bias, the judge need not recuse himself. Id. at 1112; see also United States v. Mitchell, 377 F. Supp. 1312, 1320 (D.D.C. 1974), aff'd. sub nom. Mitchell v. Sirica, 502 F.2d 375 (D.C. Cir. 1974), cert. denied, 418 U.S. 955 (1974).

Under 28 U.S.C. §455 (b) (1) the judge is to disqualify himself "[W]here he has a personal bias or prejudice concerning a party, . . ." It has been held that under this statute such decision "is a matter confined to the consideration and discretion of the judge himself." Shadid v. Oklahoma City, 494 F.2d 1267, 1268 (10th Cir. 1974). In the case of United States v. Seiffert, 501 F.2d 974 (5th Cir. 1974), it was recognized that merely prior knowledge by the judge of facts concerning a party is not in itself sufficient to require disqualification. Id. at 978. Moreover, facts learned by a judge in his judicial capacity cannot be the basis for disqualification. United States v. Bernstein, 533 F.2d 775, 785 (2d Cir. 1976).<sup>10</sup>

It appears that the Judge's initial exposure to the grand jury testimony occurred upon Patrick's refusal to testify during the course of the O'Hara trial. However, Patrick himself made use of his grand jury testimony at his own trial by offering into evidence a transcript of the testimony of February 27, 1974, and December 17, 1974, and in questioning various witnesses therefrom in order to support his defense. We believe that in light of the principles recognized in Jeffers and the entire circumstances of the proceedings below, the Judge's exposure to Patrick's grand jury testimony does not establish improper bias herein and the Judge did not err in presiding over the trial and sentencing proceedings below.

The rule of law, without belaboring the point, is that what a judge learns in his judicial capacity—whether by way of guilty pleas of codefendants or alleged coconspirators, or by way of pretrial proceedings, or both—is a proper basis for judicial observations, and the use of such information is not the kind of matter that results in disqualification. 533 F.2d at 785.

VI.

In a claim similar to the one raised immediately above, Patrick next argues that the Judge's consideration of his grand jury testimony in imposing the sentence herein was an impermissible use of immunized testimony. The record reflects that at the sentencing proceedings below the Judge indicated to Patrick he had read the transcripts of his grand jury testimony and had come to the conclusion that Patrick had been an avid witness who went out of his way to make serious accusations against Lieutenant O'Hara. Counsel for Patrick disagreed with the Judge's analysis of the grand jury proceedings but made no objection as to his having read Patrick's testimony. After further discussion, sentence was imposed. Patrick argues that use of immunized testimony in determining the severity of punishment violates the clear command of Kastigar that such testimony not be used against a witness "in any respect." Kastigar v. United States, supra, 406 U.S. at 453.

The government responds by citing many cases stating that the grant of immunity precludes any assertion by the witness of his Fifth Amendment privilege. See e.g. Maness v. Meyers, 419 U.S. 449, 462 n. 10 (1975); In Re Michaelson, 511 F.2d 882, 889-90 (9th Cir.), cert. denied, 421 U.S. 978 (1975). It argues the privilege against self-incrimination extends only to testimony which could subject the witness to criminal prosecution and does not protect him once criminality has been established by a conviction.<sup>11</sup>

<sup>11</sup> The government relies primarily on the case of United States v. Swift, 186 F. 1002, 1011, 1017-18 (N.D. Ill. 1911) and other cases discussed therein. See also Maness v. Meyers, supra, wherein the Supreme Court stated:

This Court has always broadly construed its [Fifth Amendment privilege] protection to assure that an individual is not compelled

Therefore, the government contends any consideration by Judge Marshall of Patrick's grand jury testimony was not improper since such testimony was not used as evidence either to prosecute or convict him.

We believe the case of United States v. Wilson, 488 F.2d 1231 (2nd Cir. 1973), rev'd on other grounds, 421 U.S. 309 (1975), is of help in resolving the present claim of Patrick. In Wilson, the appellants had been convicted of criminal contempt for refusing to testify at the trial of an accomplice, despite their having been immunized pursuant to 18 U.S.C. §§6002-6003. At the time of their refusal to testify the appellants had not yet been finally sentenced on their own guilty pleas and they argued that any admission by them of the details of the robbery might weigh against them at their own sentencing. Since the judge presiding over the accomplice's trial was also going to impose sentence upon appellant Wilson, Wilson contended the danger of adverse use of the compelled testimony at sentencing precluded his grant of immunity from being co-extensive with his Fifth Amendment privilege. The Second Circuit held that the appellants had failed to properly preserve the issue for appeal and did not resolve whether the potential use of the compelled testimony in sentencing would be forbidden. 488 F.2d at 1233 n. 5. The Court rejected appellant's arguments by stating as follows:

to produce evidence which later may be used against him as an accused in a criminal action. (Citations omitted). The protection does not merely encompass evidence which may lead to criminal conviction, but includes information which would furnish a link in the chain of evidence which an individual reasonably believes could be used against him in a criminal prosecution. 419 U.S. at 461. The government also relies on cases recognizing the very broad discretion the judge possesses as to the type of information he may use in sentencing, see, e.g., United States v. Tucker, 404 U.S. 443, 447 (1972); United States v. Marines, 535 F.2d 552, 554 (10th Cir. 1976); United States v. Johnson, 507 F.2d 826, 828-30 (7th Cir. 1974), cert. denied, 421 U.S. 949 (1975), and analogizes by citing various cases which hold that for sentencing purposes a judge may consider evidence obtained in violation of the defendant's rights under the Fourth Amendment, provided the illegally seized evidence was not gathered for the purpose of improperly influencing the defendant's sentencing. See, e.g., United States v. Schipani, 435 F.2d 26, 28 (2nd Cir. 1970), cert. denied, 401 U.S. 983 (1971); Verdugo v. United States, 402 F.2d 599, 610-12 (9th Cir. 1968), cert. denied, 402 U.S. 961 (1971).

"But neither Wilson nor Bryan followed what we deemed [sic] to be proper procedure in raising the issue of 'forbidden use.' If appellant Wilson doubted the ability of Judge Lasker to put out of his mind Wilson's statements at Anderson's trial, he should nevertheless have testified as ordered, but requested a different judge for sentencing on the robbery charge. Similarly, if Bryan genuinely feared an increased sentence on his guilty plea as a result of testifying in the Anderson case, he, too, should have given the evidence, then asked that proper precautions be taken (e.g., sealing the record) to insure that Judge Cooper would not be privy to the statements made under grant of immunity. Both were, however, required to obey the mandate of 18 U.S.C. §6002 that 'the witness may not refuse to comply with the order on the basis of his privilege against self-incrimination . . .'" 488 F.2d at 1233 (Citations and footnotes omitted)

Although the Wilson case was later reversed by the Supreme Court on other grounds, the issue of whether the possible use of compelled testimony in sentencing is forbidden by Kastigar and the Fifth Amendment was not presented to or resolved by the Court. 421 U.S. at 311-12 n. 3.

Although we agree with Patrick that the facts herein are distinguishable from those in Wilson in that Patrick was apparently unaware of the Judge's consideration of the grand jury testimony until the time of his sentencing, we believe the principle enunciated in Wilson is valid. Even if we assume the Judge's consideration of Patrick's grand jury testimony was improper, as soon as it became known to Patrick that such testimony had been considered in determining the sentence we believe Patrick had an obligation to take the proper steps to protect his rights. If he had sought a change of judge for sentencing purposes as discussed in Wilson, either his Fifth Amendment privilege would have been protected or he would have properly preserved his claim for appeal.

Furthermore, as discussed above, Patrick should not be allowed to complain about the Judge's exposure to his grand jury testimony in light of his own use of portions thereof as a part of his defense. In light of the Second Circuit's holding in Wilson, and the circumstances under which Judge Marshall was exposed to the immunized testimony herein, we do not believe Patrick is now entitled to object to the use of such testimony in his sentencing.

VII.

As to the final issue of whether the four year sentence imposed herein was excessive, we must initially point out that neither 18 U.S.C. §401 nor Rule 42 of the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure set forth a maximum sentence for criminal contempt. In light of the absence of such statutory limitation, the severity of the sentence to be imposed is within the sound discretion of the district court. Green v. United States, 356 U.S. 165, 188 (1958). While the Supreme Court has imposed upon the appellate courts the responsibility of insuring that this discretion is not abused, Cheff v. Schnackenburg, 384 U.S. 373, 380 (1966), great reliance is to be placed on the district court's decision. United States v. United Mine Workers of America, 330 U.S. 258, 303 (1947); United States v. Seale, 461 F.2d 345, 355 (7th Cir. 1972).

Patrick argues since over half of the states have limited the imprisonment for criminal contempt to one year or less, see Bloom v. Illinois, 391 U.S. 194, 206-07 n. 8 (1968), and a witness who refuses to testify before a grand jury may not generally be imprisoned for more than eighteen months under 28 U.S.C. §1826, the sentencing discretion was abused in this case. Patrick also contends that even if the testimony concerning O'Hara's threats do not legally excuse his refusal to testify at trial, such evidence should have justified a shorter sentence being imposed.

Although this court in appropriate cases has reduced or modified sentences imposed for criminal contempt,<sup>12</sup> we are unable to find the sentence imposed herein was an abuse of discretion. In the case of United States v. Thompson, 214 F.2d 545 (2nd Cir. 1954), the Second Circuit affirmed a sentence for criminal contempt of four years for the defendant's failure to respond to a surrender order. Similarly, in the case of United States v. Sternman, 433 F.2d 913 (6th Cir. 1970), the Sixth Circuit affirmed a sentence of three years for witness' refusal to testify before the grand jury. Furthermore, in attempting to compare Patrick's conduct herein with offenses other than criminal contempt, we find that the offenses of perjury<sup>13</sup> and obstruction of a criminal investigation<sup>14</sup> each provide for terms of imprisonment up to five years. In light of the above authority four years is not per se an excessive sentence for criminal contempt.

It must be emphasized that this case does not involve merely a witness' refusal to testify before a grand jury concerning his knowledge of criminal activity. Patrick made serious accusations before the grand jury concerning illegal conduct on the part of O'Hara, which testimony apparently was the primary basis for O'Hara's indictment,<sup>15</sup> but Patrick later refused to provide the same testimony at O'Hara's trial. Where an individual has been indicted primarily as a result of a witness' grand jury testimony, the effects on the criminal justice system can be damaging when courts are not given the power to impose severe sanctions for subsequent contumacious conduct on the part of the witness. For example, if Patrick's accusations were false, he subjected O'Hara to a criminal indictment and its resulting expense and embarrassment without giving O'Hara the opportunity to confront such allegations and obtain the proper vindication. If, in fact, Patrick's allegations were true, he caused the fruitless expense of considerable time and energy by the government in initiating criminal charges against O'Hara as well as deprived the citizens of an opportunity to successfully prosecute an individual guilty of criminal conduct. We believe the punishment in a case such as this should be greater than in cases where a witness has merely refused to testify before a grand jury.

<sup>15</sup> Apparently the two counts against O'Hara based on Patrick's testimony were dismissed by the government upon Patrick's refusal to testify at trial.

A reviewing court cannot normally determine from an appellate record the seriousness of a defendant's transgressions, United States v. Seale, supra, 461 F.2d at 355, and we conclude there is no basis for finding an abuse of the sentencing discretion herein.

Therefore, the judgment of the district court is hereby
